City To Purchase Mini Rescue Unit

The Belle Glade City Commission decided Monday night to go ahead with plans to purchase a combination "mini pumper" and rescue vehicle for the city's Fire Department.

Vice-Mayor John Grady said he would like justification for the city's proposed unit, saying the commission had discussed some type of rescue vehicle but, "this looks like a small fire truck."

"Essentially," City Manager William Mallery III said, "that's what it is but it carries about three steps further. It's not a fire truck, it's a rescue unit, but it's a heart attack and other equipment to be used in rescue work."

Mallery said the truck would also be used to fight larger fires. "It won't be able to pump as much water," he said, "but it can get it there faster."

At that time, there was a question about whether the city had budgeted such a unit. Mallery assured the commissioners there is approximately $25,000 set aside in the city's federal revenue sharing funds for it.

A unit such as the one under discussion was supposed to have been displayed to the city's fire department about a month ago but the representative of the company which makes them never appeared.

Mallery assured the commission the unit is needed by the city and offered to bring the City Fire Chief Floyd Smith to give them more detailed information.

The commission voted unanimously to authorize Mallery to go ahead and advertise for bids for the unit.

In another matter, the commission decided to look into the possibility of lowering food prices and increasing the hours of operation of the city's Country Club.

Commissioner Bill Bailey said he had heard a large number of complaints about the operation of the club and said 8:30 p.m. is a "little early" to close down the restaurant operation.

He said he would like to see the club open at least until 10 p.m. and that the city-owned club was eating at the hands of the commissioners and Mallery was asked to look into menu prices.

Bailey said he would bring up the club costs $150, a shrimp dinner with two baked eggs at $7.50 and Commissioner Ralph Kirk said a small hamburger costs $1.25 and an order of French fried potatoes are 75 cents.

Kirk commented he could eat a hamburger on North Avenue in Palm Beach.

Vice-Mayor John Grady suggested the commissioner look into the possibility of leasing the entire country club operation to a private entrepreneur.

Bailey said that would bring up the problem of whether to rent the entire operation to one enterprise or to split it into two. He said he would like to find anyone interested in leasing the restaurant, the lounge and the golf course.

Bailey stressed he wasn't planning Mrs. Virginia Edwards, the lounge and restaurant manager, or anyone else out there. "I'm being critical of policies I helped create."

Two of those policies he elaborated on was the policy of pricing food a little higher than comparable restaurants in the Glades and the closing of the country club on Tuesdays.

"The original idea in closing the club," he said, "was to give the greens western golf chance to take care of the golf course while no one was using it."

"But from what I've heard, it's been a real excellent condition" but criticized head groundskeeper G.E. McDowell, saying he "hasn't been doing his job."

In another area, the commission directed the city manager to proceed with plans to build a bicycle-pedestrian path along Airport Road from Glades Day School to N.E. 27th St.

The path, according to tentative plans presented by Mallery's assistant, Tom Altman, would run along the south side of Airport Road to Glades Day School, south along the eastern edge of the school property and west along the southern edge of the school property to Northeast Avenue II.

Altman estimated the bike path would cost the city approximately $7,800 for the 8,600 feet of rock and oil surfacing. Two other alternatives were offered along the same route which would have cost some amount for paving but another $11,100 for a four foot high fence along the canal.

The bike path has been the object of discussion for several meetings but the original idea was to run it 400 yards south of Airport Road but since the

Million Dollar City Hall Complex Given Go-Ahead

The Belle Glade City Commission moved Monday to proceed with plans to build a million dollar city hall complex in McDonald Park by authorizing advertisement for bids.

Bids will be called for to build the new city hall, estimated to carry the bulk of the cost at a "ball park" figure of $60,000. Phase I of the project, which the commission gave the go-ahead for, would also include building city-owned quarters for the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, modifications to the existing library, landscaping, and construction of a park and drive.

Baptist Drill Team Performs

A 31 member Christmas Day School drill team will perform for the Federal Feeding Program for the Elderly at 3:30 p.m. today at the Glades Central High School cafeteria.

The drill team will be made up of four representatives from the kindergarten, the first and second grade, the third and fourth grade, the fifth and sixth grade, and the seventh and eighth grade.

The drill team members will be Vickie Shackelford, Tonya Schoenfeld, Tina Dean and Linda Sue Holt from the kindergarten; and five year old kindergarten and elite stitues, Elizabeth Graham, Jennifer Goodson and Lee Warren of the first and second grade.

Lolly Blanchard, Lisa Acree, Debra Lynn and Jennifer Stealy will represent the third grade; and the fourth grade, Garrya Garcia, Jan Hancock, Genny Andrews and Silvia McCall are from the fifth and sixth and Kathy Robinson, Vickie May, Lisa Lewis and Kim Barton are from the seventh and eighth grades.

Representing the sixth grade will be Leatrice Gelford, a solo twirler, Vera Lamb, Debbie Borek, Nancy Kelly and Debbie Miner.

Also part of the tentative plan, but not to be included in Phase I is an office building and a new city fire station with six large and two small bays.

Miami architect, Hammer P. Daniels stressed he is attempting to design the complex as a unified whole, utilizing the same style of architecture in all the buildings as much as possible.

Daniels has referred to the style of architecture as "the Florida look" and the most notable feature is the use of a mild, white, stucco finish as he calls Leudowici the roots.

Another feature he is using in the city hall is large, plate glass windows.

Daniels told the commission they during a work session design work on the city hall's second floor and most of the work on the first floor.

Partitioning in the new building will be portable, allowing changes to be made as needed at a minimal cost and a feeling of space will be added in the second floor auditorium by installing no ceiling.

Daniels and City Manager William Mallery said when the commissioners had their first look at the rough plans in August of last year the city would only be the city hall party in the new building but there have been a number of delays.

One feature of the landscaping will be a "dry fountain" at the entrance to the city hall. August of last year the city would only be the city hall party in the new building but there have been a number of delays.

Although Daniels said there would be water in the fountain, it would only be enough to cover the bottom.

This will really cut down on the cost of building basic fountain and the maintenance problems," Daniels said, "and it still looks good."

He suggested the city might try to get the Belle Glade Woman's Club to donate the fountain to the city as a civic project.

Daniels was hesitant about estimating the cost of the project and emphasized both the $600,000 city hall cost and the $11 million overall Phase I cost were "ball park figures."

No one seemed sure if Phase I would also include the remodeling of the existing city hall building, which will be turned over to the city Police Department or whether the extensive landscaping at the new facility would be contracted or done by city crews.

AN INDICATION OF THE CLARITY OF THE WATER FLOWING OUT OF THIS PIPE INTO SEEPAGE PONDS ...is that, according to Mallery, fish have lived in the ponds for more than a week...and there is still another stage of filtration

Belle Glade Building Ban May Be Thing Of The Past

The two-year-old building moratorium in Belle Glade could be lifted today if a meeting between city officials and the Department of Pollution Control goes as planned.

Mayor Aubrey Farmer, City Manager William Mallery and the city's engineering firm, Briley-Wild and Associates of Ormond Beach will meet with representatives from the Department of Pollution Control in West Palm Beach today.

State Department of Pollution Control in West Palm Beach today.

State Department of Pollution Control Regional Administrator Warren Strahm from Fort Lauderdale will be at the meeting along with the head of Palm Beach County's program, Frank Gargiulo. Also attending the meeting will be Paul Phillips, an engineer with the Department in Fort Lauderdale.

Phillips inspected Belle Glade's sewer plant this weekend. It was out of his inspection that the idea for the meeting with all concerned attending was born.

City Manager Bill Mallery, who showed Phillips what the city had done to its sewer plant, suggested the meeting. Phillips checked with Strahm and the Palm Beach County program and the meeting was set.

It was the sewer system which brought on Belle Glade's building moratorium in April of 1972. Since that time the city has spent $120,000 on improving the system which Mallery now feels is ready to take on additional connections. "We hope to come back from West Palm with the go ahead to connect property adjacent to existing sewer and to hookup Bailey Subdivision," Mallery said Wednesday.

"I also expect," he said, "to be able to give reasonable assurance to builders and developers that with some minor clean-up work on our part they can start planning badly needed housing in this area."

Strahm has the power to give Mallery what he's after. But he will not come without the local program's (county) approval.

Neither Strahm nor Gargiulo were available for comment Wednesday morning.

Briley's pitching up its existing sewer lines, the city has gone into major construction at the sewer plant itself.

A 6,400 cubic foot chlorinator pool was constructed in front of the plant. It can handle up to 5 million gallons per day.

The sewer goes through the plant and into the chlorinator pool where it stays for 40 minutes. While some treated effluent is still going into the Hillsborough Canal, the plan is to pump it all to the back of the plant where a huge holding pond has been dug.

While it hasn't been officially tested, Mallery said he was sure the water going into the Hillsborough Canal was far cleaner than law required. The chlorinator is presently treating the water with three parts per million, while law requires only .05 parts per million.

The holding pond is even more efficient.

Is Your Mom The Greatest?

Hey Kids, is your mother the best mother in Belle Glade? She is! Well super. How about writing and telling us all about it?

You know, Mother's Day isn't too far off. And this could be your big chance to win her some real nice presents.

The Belle Glade Herald is sponsoring its third annual Mother of the Year contest. We want you kids 12 years old and under to write us in 50 words or less on why you think your mother is the greatest. Be sure to tell us your age.

All letters must be in our hands no later than 5:00 p.m. Monday, May 6. Then, a panel of judges will go through the letters and pick out the best one.

The best one's mother will be chosen Mother of the Year. She will receive some very nice presents and her picture along with yours will go on our front page of our Mother of the Year supplement.

Write Care: Treasurer, Lee Cranford said the Belle Glades Chamber of Commerce is the local sponsoring agent and the $500,000 city hall cost and the $11 million overall Phase I cost were "ball park figures."

While Phillips would not comment officially while he was in Belle Glade, he did seem pleased with what he saw. He said he had conveyed his thoughts and recommendations to Strahm, but would not comment further when contacted Wednesday.

"I'm going over the city's applications and information to make sure all the i's are dotted and all the t's are crossed," said Phillips. "The city is supposed to be coming in with some additional facts at the meeting which might help us reach a decision."

Phillips said Strahm had the authority to lift the building moratorium, but he would not do so without concurrence from the local program.

He said this could be done either through a temporary operating permit permitting additional hookups, or through a building permit.

The water is pumped into fields which were once used for the drying of solid waste. These fields are no longer used for that since solid waste is dissolved in the plant now and comes out as liquid.

The water seeps down through the fields and into the adjacent holding pond. This process acts as an additional filter for the effluent which will eventually evaporate.

"I feel we now have the best sewer plant in the state of Florida for any town our size," said Mallery. "This plant should take care of our needs for many years to come. In the meantime we will continue our plans for another sewer plant in the northeast section of town."

Back To Apathy

There is a small group of men and women dedicated to helping make Belle Glade a better place to live. Unfortunately, the group is not large enough to form a quorum. So, for the second time in three meetings the Chamber of Commerce board of directors' get together on Tuesday night was cancelled.

After having a running feud with the Chamber of Commerce for a year The Herald decided to approach the problem positively. We have arranged our schedule so that each meeting of the Chamber's directors is staffed by either our publisher or editor.

When a newsworthy story originates from this meeting we try to put it on the front page. We want the people in this town to know that their Chamber is doing and take an active interest in it. Only through active participation by a majority of this town's businesses can the Chamber be effective.

However, when the Chamber's decision making body can't muster enough people to make decisions, the cause for other members actively participating is a difficult one to put forth with any amount of sincerity or authority.

Everybody in Belle Glade is busy. The men and women elected to the Chamber's board who consistently miss board meetings are sure do not do so out of neglect.

Before their names were put forth to be voted on by the general membership they were contacted and asked if they would like to serve and if they would have time to serve. At the time we are sure they felt they would.

But changes come fast in Belle Glade. And what was an open night last month could be an active one the next.

The board of directors for the Chamber of Commerce is an important body. An active one can make a town and a Chamber, just as an inactive one can kill. We would much prefer to see the former, rather than the latter. We know Chamber President Ben Clarke agrees with us. We hope he will do something about it in the very near future.

Getting Slick

Why do gas prices continue to soar? By all indications they should be getting lower. Yet the oil industry continues to play on the false fears of shortages to gouge the public.

We guess oil companies are required by law to publish their net profits. Otherwise, we are sure they would not flaunt the public as they have the past two days, with mind boggling increases in net profits over 1973.

Texaco and Exxon are the latest to join the parade of increased profits. Texaco announced its profits for the first three months of 1974 were 123.2 per cent higher than their profits in the first three months of 1973. Poor old Exxon, on the other hand, can only report a 38.8 per cent increase in profits for the same period. Earlier this week Gulf Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana (amoco) reported whopping 75 per cent profit increases.

Their profits don't jump around the low rent district either. Texaco's profit jumped from $264 million during the first three months of 1973 to $589.4 million during the same period in 1974.

Exxon's jump was from $508 million to $705 million. And mind you, that's only the first three months of the years. Even if their profits stay the same over the next months (which they aren't likely to do as the upswing in oil profits should continue) this mean's Exxon would net $2.8 BILLION, while Texaco should net $2.3 BILLION.

Meanwhile, the little man who might be lucky enough to get a 10 per cent cost of living raise the entire year, pays 60 cents for a gallon of gas. And before long he'll pay a dollar.

Every sentence or phrase we think of to end this editorial comes out unfruitful for a famous newspaper. So—just think about those facts for awhile. And maybe, just maybe you'll get as angry as we get and will want to do something about it.

Let's Hear It For Ramie

Dear Sir:

You are about to make the acquaintance of a confirmed Floridophile and longtime active pro writer. One of my early themes about the Sunshine State was that "unrivalled 'prince of fibers,' ramie."

Over the years I have compiled a thick research file. Some two decades ago a local manufacturer gave me machine bobbins "wound with ramie thread." He declared, "When the time comes we can count on a supply of ramie. It will revolutionize the apparel industry."

The hitch has been, to establish a balance between supply and demand, and to this day the press is totally resistant to so much as mention ramie, a doozed plant in Japan.

A fervent advocate for the Florida growing of superior fibers NOW IN SHORT SUPPLY, spoke movingly of an editorial by the late Luther Jones in his loved paper, THE PALM BEACH POST, dated May 1968. He said my friend, "had he lived, things might have been different."

He is presently heartened by the prospects of some wisdom coming over from the East to discuss these things.

impressive Manila manufacturers steeped deeply in knowledge of ramie. It's timely, with fiber rationing hinted in Washington.

—grows beautifully in Belle Glade since 1929.

And After Abortion...?

Dear Editor:

I think abortion is terrible. I wrote a letter, sent to many papers. One editor wrote back "This is tripe!"

To me it looks like blood—blood that cries to heaven for vengeance. It is crying too, I believe, for attention in our papers. Can you print, please? (E.A.)

AFTER ABORTION WHAT?

The U.S.A. adopted abortion in Jan. 1973. It is good. But bad! Here is what I read in the New York Times, dated before 1920. Euthanasia arrived by 1920. By 1938 Germany erected the first gas-chamber. Pediatricians first did away with defective children who were bed-wetters who had disabilities, etc.

Later the old age homes were cleaned out. Private homes were invaded and elderly people who were getting a little forgetful were taken away. All the WWI amputees were also done away with.

Then HITLER took over the gas-chambers. He killed off all the Gypsies on the German countryside. And more than 6 million Jews.

The U.S.A. at in judgment over the Germans, at the Nuremberg Trials. A condemned and anguished Nazi judge said, "I never knew it would come to this!"

The American judge answered simply, "I came to this the first time you asked me to sign a document." Now it is here. Do we turn back? Or what country will do over us at the WASHINGTON Trials? But do not worry. By then they will have done away with you.

against, mothers-in-law, never having met myself. I guess they do catch more than their fair share of grief in jokebooks.

Maybe that's who someone decided they deserve their own day to commemorate them.

Oh yeah! Last we forgot, May 27 is Memorial Day. You'll need it to remember all the goodies going on during the month.

Boy, let someone get something good and everyone wants to jump on the bandwagon.

It looks like a sure bet, the People's Republic of China (usually referred to as Red China) isn't going to let the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (that's Russian, or the Soviet Union, if you prefer) steal a march on them.

Remember a couple of weeks ago when George Hamilton IV made a tour of the Soviet Union? Well, the world's out now that Buck Owens of Hee Haw is considering a trip to Mainland China.

Like I said earlier, maybe there's hope for this old world yet.

It'll be interesting to see, though, if Buck appears on stage at the Peking version of the Grand Ole Opry House, whether he uses the red, white and blue guitar he usually plays.

Seriously, though, it looks like as though if the people of two countries with so many differences can find a common ground of likes and dislikes to discuss something should give sogger or later.

Don't think you're reading the wrong column. Don't think somebody switched material on me. It's true. I'm going to say something nice about the Post Office—because they deserve it.

My mother-in-law actually got her Belle Glade Herald within 24 hours after it left this office.

Now, that might not sound like much, but believe me it is after you have lived with what we've lived with for the past two years.

My mother-in-law works for the Post Office in Zellwood. One of the few places the state other than Belle Glade where muck can be found. I use her as a barometer.

She is forever writing my wife and I letters which we—as children are wont to do—often times do not find or make the time to answer. In every letter, though, she tells me when her Belle Glade Herald arrived in Zellwood.

I can pretty well tell from that how the rest of the papers are going around the state.

The earliest she has ever gotten it is Monday after the Monday after the Thursday morning we mailed it. Many of them have come in the middle of the following week—and a few have reached her a week late or even worse.

I have sat here for two years and mailed the newspapers the same way every week. At no time during that period did anyone ever offer to help me in speeding up statewide delivery—that is until last week.

Ken Turner, the new first office filling in from West Palm until a permanent first officer can be appointed locally sent over a batch of yellow tags. He told me that the tags marked the bags as second class mail to be expedited.

The old tagging system he said there was a good chance the papers were piled in with the third class mail which officially has 24 hours to get out of the station.

Now, why couldn't somebody have told us that two years ago. I, for one, get tired of the same ol' news. The Glades certainly needs it.

Paul Phillips from the Depart of Pollution Control was in town the weekend. He took a look at our sewer plant and Pahokee's. We can't speak for what he s Pahokee, but he seemed quite pl with what he saw here.

Phillips offered a new breed of Poll Control people. He seemed genu concerned with Belle Glade's prob and was interested in helping u any way he could to get the bul moratorium lifted.

In her missionary address to the Women of the Church of Everglades Presbyterian Church last week, Mrs. Anna Tassone, the pastor's mother, noted that Mrs. Rosita Tassone, Belle Glade resident and teacher at Glades Central High School, is related to the Rev. Abe Castor, pastor of Everglades Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Tassone's father, the late Rev. Angel Archilla Cabrera, Presbyterian minister in the area of San German, Puerto Rico, 50 years ago; was the graduation speaker at the Presbyterian Polytechnic Institute (now Inter-American University) when Mrs. Castor graduated in 1923.

It appears then, that Mrs. Rosita Tassone and the Rev. Abe Castor are the products of events in Presbyterianism's mission of 50 years ago.

It is a small world, quite a coincidence that two Belle Glade residents should now cross paths, having shared a common heritage of almost 50 years.

Bridge Winners

The Thursday night open contract bridge tournament held weekly at the Belle Glade Elks Club was won April 18 by the team of Guy Wood and Ed Brancati.

Brancati said Dee Wood and Mollie Pearlman tied for second place with Mary O'Connell and Betty Poston while the team of Jan Pense and Edith Freedlund came in fourth.

Brancati said the bridge players are still looking for more players to build competition and said all players are welcome each Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Board Expanded

Cornelius D. Foster (left), Vice President of Progressive Finance Company and the Rev. Charles Robinson, Pastor of Mt. Zion AME Church Belle Glade were installed as Board Members at Large at the annual meeting of the Palm Glades Girl Scout Council on March 24, 1974. The board serves as the policy and decision making body for the entire council covering 6 counties. They joined Ms. Gladys Ganzy in representing the Glades Hercules Neighborhood with eleven active Girl Scout Troops with a membership of 202 girls.

Home Economics Agent Week Underway

Can't get rid of those roaches and mice? Lost the only copy of a recipe for shrimp creole? Trying to find a recipe for a home-made record?

Help is a phone call away. The County Extension Home Economics Agents around the state have been helping housewives find solutions to homemaking problems for 60 years, since the service was begun by the Smith-Lever Act in 1914.

This week has been proclaimed statewide Extension Home Economics Agent week in recognition for the help provided by women in the service.

Mrs. Beverly Harrington, who mans the Glades office for the service two days a week, said her biggest job is to help a federal funded project to help acquire low-income housewives provide adequate nutrition.

In these days of spiraling food costs such a task isn't easy and Mrs. Harrington said she works through four aides who she trains and who, in turn, meet with housewives. Mrs. Harrington said her aides presently work with 144 families representing 757 Glades residents in the program.

The idea is to improve the family's nutrition habits and teach new methods of food preparation, she said, "to provide help with home management and improve household skills."

Mrs. Harrington said the county program is five years old and the Glades program is two years old and is operating from Lake Harbor to Pahokee.

Mrs. Harrington and the other agents around the state conduct special programs, short courses and workshops, in addition to the expanded nutrition program, for organized groups in the community.

the factory, the business centers, lunch rooms, food stamp centers, child care centers and housing projects. They also reach home exhibits in a variety of places and are on call at their offices, where they maintain a wide variety of literature to help solve homemaking problems.

Skating and pool prices have also meant an all-time high amount of food being preserved in the home and this is right down the alley for the home economics agent.

Mrs. Harrington said that while she began her job in the Glades on a full-time basis, she now commutes from the coast but there is an opening for a full-time agent in the local office to recognize her efforts.

Audubon To Meet

"Needles of Florida Wild-Fls" is the title of the program which will be presented tonight, at the meeting of the Lake Okechobee Audubon Society.

The meeting will be held at the Everglades Experiment Station library at 8:00 p.m. Laymond Hardee, a former Glades resident, will be the speaker. He is a well known naturalist and writer whose articles have been published in a variety of publications including National Geographic Magazine.

His special interest in this area makes this a program of special interest. Everyone is welcome to attend.

un perrito valiente y fiel

Cuando el padre al interior del bosque con su hacha en la mano. El perrito ya se había ido ladrando furiosamente. A poco de andar vagando por el bosque oyo los fuertes ladidos del perrito, y hasta le parecio oír los gritos de los ladrones del perrito, llevando ya bien preparada su hacha. Corriendo con toda la velocidad que le fue posible siguiendo la dirección de los ladidos del perrito, llevando a la vez su hacha en la mano. Corriendo deplorado de arboles y arbustos en donde vio un cuadro que lo lleno de alegría y de temor al mismo tiempo.

Allí vio a sus dos hijos abrazados fuertemente el uno al otro, junto al tronco de un árbol. A corta distancia estaba parado un enorme lobo que ya se preparaba para lanzarse sobre ellos. Pero el pequeño perrito no permitía a la bestia acercarse a los niños. Allí estaba el pequeño Brichon resistiendo con fatiga y pena las acometidas furiosas de un fiero lobo, no dejó a este cometer su crimen de sangre y voracidad. Ya llegado el leñador se puso de parte del cansado perrito y le dio un fuerte abrazo a lobo que lo dejó muerto en un instante. Enseguida tomó al pequeño perrito en sus brazos y puso estaba muy herido y agotado, y lo condujo a la casa. Allí lo cuidaron con cariño porque bien podían decir que salvo la vida a sus dos hijos que, de otro modo, habrían perecido sin auxilio en garras de aquella horrible bestia. Con rano se dio que el perro es un buen amigo del hombre!

Quien Es El Hombre Maduro?

"Si sabes conservar tu cabeza, cuando a tu alrededor todos pierden la suya.

Si puedes confiar en ti mismo, cuando todos los demás dudan, pero teniendo en cuenta sus dudas.

Si puedes esperar, sin que el cansancio de la espera le derrumbe.

O ser derrotado, sin que el fracaso te domine.

O ser odiado, sin dar causa a la venganza.

Y aun así, ni te muestras frustrado, ni hablas como un sabio.

Si puedes sonar pero sin dejarte dominar por los sueños. Si puedes pensar, pero sin hacer del pensamiento tu fin.

Si al encontrarte con el Triunfo o la Derrota, tratas por igual a estos dos importadores.

Si puedes ver y se hunden las cosas, a que te has entregado, y después agacharte de nuevo, para reconstruirlas con las herramientas molidas.

Si eres capaz de hablar a multitudes y mantienes tu humildad.

O caminar con Reyes sin perder tu habitual simpatía.

Si ni los enemigos ni los buenos amigos logran herirte.

Si todos los hombres cuentan contigo, pero no para todo.

Si puedes olvidar el minuto imperdonable que te hizo perder por 60 segundos el final victorioso de aquella carrera.

Si puedes lograr que tus músculos te sirvan mucho tiempo, después que tus fuerzas han caído; y perseverar cuando no hay en ti nada mas que el querer que manda.

Si tienes en tu corazón un Amor, que para ti vale mas que la vida...

ENTONCES... tú ya es la tierra y todo lo que en ella...

Y lo que es mucho mas: TU ERES UN HOMBRE, hijo mio..."

(Rudyard Kipling)

Glades In Drought Area

The Glades area is in the middle of what was declared last week to be an 18-county area in which "emergency drought condition exists" according to Gov. Reubin Askew. Because of the dry weather, Askew has ordered a ban on setting fires to any forest, grass, woods, wild lands or marshes, or to build a campfire or bonfire or to burn trash or other debris within 600 yards of any forest, grasslands, woods, wild lands, or marsh areas in any of these counties without a written permit from the Division of Forestry.

"The fire emergency in South Florida has become greatly magnified by the shortage of rainfall in these counties," John M. Bethea, director of the Division of Forestry, said.

"Wildfires that occur during drought periods are much more difficult to control and suppress," Bethea said, and "they inflict an enormous amount of environmental damage."

Included in the drought area by the governor's proclamation were Palm Beach, Manatee, Sarasota, Charlotte, DeSoto, Hardee, Okechobee, St. Lucie, Indian River, Glades, Martin, Highlands, Lee, Collier, Hendry, Broward, Dade and Monroe Counties.

An indication of the drought's severity, according to Bethea, are figures indicating 6,140 wildfires burned 349,760 acres from Jan. 1 through April 14 of this year compared to 81,202 acres going up in the smoke of 3,063 fires for the same period last year.

"We recognize that some individuals have valid reasons for outdoor fires, such as for land clearing," Bethea said. "We do not want to create undue hardships for anyone," he said, "but under the terms of this official proclamation issued by Gov. Askew, those individuals who do need to start outdoor fires can obtain permission from the Division of Forestry."

Registration Time Expanded

Three added days, May 24, 25, and two evenings, May 24, 25, have been scheduled for pre-registration for the Spring Term at Palm Beach Junior College, according to Laurence Mayfield, Registrar.

"We increased our computer capacity during the pre-registration period, and the changeover involved some loss of time," Mayfield said. "We are scheduling the extra days to make up this time."

Mayfield reported 2,270 already pre-registered for Spring I, which begins May 13, 611 for Spring II, which begins June 25, and 723 for the Fall Term which begins August 26. Last year the entire enrollment for Spring I was 2,975, so we feel that pre-registration of 2,270 is quite good," Mayfield said.

Returning students only will be pre-registered for day classes, but both new and returning students may pre-register for evening classes.

Regular registration for Spring I, is May 10, returning students 8 a.m.-12 noon, new and reactivated day students 1 p.m., and all evening students, 5-9:30 p.m.

Hot Dog! That's the last one. Got it for another week!

Never seen the likes of it. No matter what happens when we're winding the paper up on Wednesday mornings, the headlines are the last things written...and everybody wants 'em at once.

Annette told me though. (Annette's the girl who usually does the heads) "Cindy," she says, "Cindy, one thing you gotta remember about heads. You can only do one at a time.

"And it never fails. Knowin' you can only set one letter at a time, they still flood you with 'em all at the last minute and there's Glenn screaming because you can't whip 'em out fast enough."

Actually, though, setting heads isn't as hard to learn as writing them. They're interesting too, because you can read the heads as you set 'em and get a pretty good idea about what goes into the paper.

And the heads we set here pretty often concern people I know and people you probably know too. That's cause we're a local paper. (Ah hah! Bet you thought I was going to forget to put a plug in for the paper, didn't you?)

But seriously, being a local paper, the only one in the area, I might add, we do have more heads...and stories, that apply more directly to you than you'll find anywhere else.

That's why it makes sense to read the Herald, or at least it's one of the why's. There are several others too but I won't go into them today.

Anyway, See you in the funny papers. And you can set that with a 72 point banner head.

How to understand your electric bill.

There's a new item called "FUEL ADJ" on your electric bills. It stands for fuel adjustment, and has been a part of the rate structure since 1925. We started itemizing it on your bills last December to help you better understand your monthly charges.

It represents the changes in cost and quantities of fuel necessary to meet the demand for power. It also reflects the higher cost of burning lower polluting fuels. It gives you a chance to make appropriate increases or decreases in your electric bill without having to go through costly rate case proceedings.

Yes, decreases.

From 1964 through the summer of 1973, FPL's residential customers enjoyed reductions in billings totalling over $25,500,000. (Customers in previous years experienced increases or decreases depending on prevailing conditions and the formula being applied at the time.)

Of course, now fuel costs are rising and the fuel adjustment reflects an increase. But not a rate increase. The fuel adjustment goes directly to pay higher fuel costs, rather than producing any profits for the company.

And because the fuel adjustment is based on an average fuel cost which includes part of our inventory purchased at lower prices, and our less costly nuclear and gas generation, the increase on your bill is not nearly as severe as the increase in our oil prices, leap by 64% during January 1974, alone. The rise is nearly 200% over January 1973. That's a jump from $3.84 per barrel to more than $11.50 per barrel.

And that's why you're seeing the fuel adjustment increase in your electric bill.

But there is something you can do. Look under that column on your bill that says "Kilowatt Hours Used". That tells how much electricity you use. It's your control over how high or low your bill is. Compare it from month to month. Try to observe the Watt Watcher.

And you'll find that electricity isn't the only thing you save.

THIS SEMI-TRUCK WAS ONLY SEMI-TOUGH MONDAY AFTERNOON...when it ploughed into a parked car and then rammed a couple of cars here.

Truck Smacks Train, Car

A semi-truck managed to bang up a parked car but didn't make too much impression on two box cars it rammed before coming to a stop Monday afternoon behind Gresting's Packing House.

Belle Glade Police Sgt. William King said the semi, driven by John Milton Simpson Jr. of Exmore, Va., was still doing approximately 50 miles per hour when it slammed into the boxcars, moving two loaded box cars six feet on the rail.

"The impact shifted his load of corn forward about four feet," King said, "but that means the front four feet of corn was smashed."

King said there was no ready explanation as to why Simpson, who was treated and released at Glades General Hospital, rammed a parked car belonging to Elton Bethune of 116 S.W. Sixth St. and then hit the box cars.

Lake Still Dropping

Declining water level in Lake Okechobee as a result of drought conditions over south Florida will bring on restricted lockages at the St. Lucie Lock on the eastern end of the Okechobee waterway beginning May 1.

Army Engineers in Jacksonville announced that "even boat" lockages only will be permitted at the St. Lucie Lock, with first priority given to vessels moving from west to east.

Vessels approaching the locks will have to wait until regular openings at 6 a.m., 8 a.m. and so on until the final lockage at 10 p.m. daily.

Engineers also cautioned that shippers on the Okechobee Waterway should be aware that full eight-foot depth of the channel may not be available and vessel operators with craft approaching eight feet should contact one of the navigation lock masters of the Corps/Clevisian Area office to determine restrictive areas where full project depth is not available.

The eight-foot channel is based on the Lake Okechobee water stage of 12.56 feet above mean sea level. The Lake level has been receding close to this point for several weeks.

Gail G. Green, chief of the Corps' Operations Division, said the restrictive lockages will be discontinued as soon as low water conditions in Lake Okechobee improve. Purpose of the restriction, he said, is to conserve dwindling water supplies.

Lockages per day vary widely at St. Lucie Lock, but each lockage saves more than a million gallons of water. Restricting lockages to "even hours only" or nine lockages per day is expected to save several million gallons of the dwindling water supply, in Lake Okechobee, engineers say.

Now's The Time For Sweet Corn

That incomparable flavor of sweet corn at your roadside stand, is available from October to July, but most plentiful during April, May and June, says Arlen C. Jones, Extension Home Economics Agent.

First, lay husks back but don't tear them off. Remove the silk and soak the corn in cold, salted water for about 30 minutes. Drain well, then brush kernels with butter or margarine and sprinkle with seasonings.

Pull husks back around ears again, wrap in heavy-duty aluminum foil, and twist ends tightly.

When the fire has died down to embers, roast ears for about 25 minutes in hot coals, turning often to prevent burning. At the first whiff, family will come running as though pursued by corn borer.

Sweet corn is at its "mouth-watering" best when picked at its peak of maturity and cooked and served promptly, Mrs. Jones advised.

Not over vegetable losses its delicious flavor and tender, less time from field to fire, the natural corn sugar starts turning to starch within 20 minutes after picking. The loss increases with warm temperatures. Picked corn should be stored in a cool place, but as much as half of the sugar may be lost in one day when corn is stored at 80 degrees F. or more, about 8 percent is lost at 22 degrees F. If it must wait a while before cooking, keep it refrigerated in the husk.

To cook the ears in water, remove outer husks. Remove silk and complete the job quickly with a small vegetable brush. Cut out bad parts, break off extreme tip, and wash ear well. Then cook in simmering, salted water about 8 minutes, or until tender.

Florida corn is raised from field to packing plants for hydrocooling, Mrs. Jones said. This process lowers the field temperature of the corn quickly to preserve flavor and freshness. Using the loaded trucks and railroad cars helps to preserve the freshness and tenderness while the corn enroute to distant markets.

Although Iowa, Illinois and Indiana are considered the Big Three in the corn-growing states, Florida corn still travels as far north as Michigan when needed. In fact, Florida is the nation's major source of sweet corn during many months, especially during winter and early spring.

When you shop for "roastin' ears," look for them in ear or in refrigerated cobs in the market. Mrs. Jones advises. Some will be "poly bags" and some in husks. Buy the corn even when it's fresh, tender, plump, milky kernels just firm enough to resist resistance to pressure.

Husks should be bright green and fit snugly. Worn husks are not serious if confined to the tips of the ear. Darn-brown silk at the end of the husk is a sign of well-filled kernels.

Soft, undeveloped kernels lack flavor when cooked, and large, excessively firm kernels indicate overripeness; the sugar has turned to starch.

Overripe corn is usually a deeper color than that picked at its peak of eating goodness. Although ears having many husks appear greener and fresher than trimmed ears, they may actually have wilted and dentered kernels.

Don't overlook roadside markets as a source of good fresh sweet corn.

Compare prices when you shop, Mrs. Jones says. When the price of two medium ears equal the price of a No. 300 or 303 ear, or a 10 ounce package of frozen ears, the cost for serving is roughly the same.

The new hybrid sweet corns, the cost for serving is roughly the same. The new hybrid sweet corns, the cost for serving is roughly the same.

Early settlers gave thanks for his bountiful corn harvest and his promise of food throughout the winter. Today's varieties are well-developed hybrids of high yield and superior appearance and flavor, Mrs. Jones points out.

One bigger, better hybrid available from 14 to 18 rows of clear white, tender, juicy kernels and between 5 and 6 percent sugar. This sugar reportedly converts to starch more slowly than in corn of corn. T. hybrids are popular in Florida. Mrs. Jones says. They're a lot off. Just fertilized by Shall we

Quaker Oats Earns President's Flag Of Exceptional Performance

The Belle Glade Quaker Oats mill became the first member of the company's Chemical Division to fly the flag-raising ceremony Monday.

The flag was presented to plant manager Robert Pease during the company's Management Committee Meeting at Vero Beach Saturday by Leonard W. Steiger, Jr., Chemical Division vice president.

Pease said the flag will also be flown over the other three plants in the United States and the three plants the company operates in the Chemical Division in Europe.

The division was named one of the winners of the President's Award for Exceptional Performance by a Profit Center by President Robert D. Stuart Jr.

In making the presentation, Stuart cited the division for its record for fiscal year 1973, which included operating income exceeding the previous year by 25 per cent.

Pease said the division also exceeded expected income by 8 per cent and sales were increased by 25 per cent over fiscal 72.

Stuart also said the Chemical Division has demonstrated "very effective management, research and development and marketing ability, and has

Pastors Unite Against Change

The Rev. Mark O'Farrell, pastor of the Belle Glade Alliance Church, and the Rev. John B. Cantor, pastor of Everglades Presbyterian Church, have issued emergency letters to their congregations calling for immediate action in a campaign of letter-writing to Congress in Washington, D.C.

Both pastors expressed alarm over possible results of pending legislation in two identical bills introduced in the U.S. Senate (S-3687) and the House of Representatives (H.R. 15220).

The two local pastors urged the elimination of all contributions to churches, schools, hospitals and other charitable, non-profit organizations, as deduction from individual Federal Income Tax. They also call for elimination of tax-exemption on parsonages.

If passed, they said these bills will drastically hamper the work of churches of every denomination, in that no contributions will be tax-deductible.

McClelland Receives Award

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper William Burroughs, who heads up the PHIP Auxiliary locally, last week presented a Certificate of Merit to Lennie D. McClelland of Canal Point. McClelland has been an auxiliaryman for the past 14 years and was the unit's lieutenant last year. The certificate was presented, "for outstanding devotion and loyalty...by assisting the Florida Highway Patrol in the reduction of traffic accidents and the alleviation of human suffering and pain."

Coop Breaks Record

The Florida sugar industry will boost South Florida's economy by more than a quarter of a billion dollars this year as it finishes its 1973-74 season. This was the second best year in the industry's 69-year history, sugar officials said.

George Wedgworth, president of the Florida Sugar Cane League, representing all South Florida sugar companies and approximately 150 growers, said, although this isn't a record year for production, the increase in the price of sugar, due to increased world-wide demand, has more than compensated the industry for its loss in production.

The industry suffered a 100,000 ton loss of sugar in early December, due to three heavy freeze events.

The 73-74 crop ended when Glades County Sugar Growers Cooperative in Moore Haven completed its grinding season April 17.

Combined, the eight South Florida sugar mills harvested 250,000 acres of sugar cane. Over 8.4 million tons of cane was harvested. This crop produced 828,500 tons of raw sugar and over 82 million gallons of blackstrap molasses.

This did not surpass the record 1972-73 season, when the industry harvested 250,041 acres of cane. This 72-73 record crop produced 8,008,210 tons of sugar raw sugar, yielding 96,000 tons of raw sugar and over 68 million gallons of blackstrap molasses.

The previous Florida production record was set during the 1967-68 season when 741,000 tons of sugar were produced. This year's grinding season was considerably shorter than last year's. Glades County Sugar Growers Cooperative operated the longest for a total of 166 days. Last year Tallahassee Sugar Corporation set a record of 221 operating days. The average grinding length for the eight sugar mills was 143 days.

SORORITY CHECK PRESENTED FOR MENTAL HEALTH CENTER BY...Mrs. Zitter and Mrs. Reessler to Miss Jean Cogar (center) for mental health month.

More Donations Add To Mental Health Drive

Mental Health month received three more boosts over the past week with a proclamation and donation from the City of South Bay and donations from two area women's clubs.

South Bay Mayor Vernita Cox signed a proclamation April 16 naming April Mental Health Month in the Glades and that night, the South Bay City Commission voted a $400 donation to the Palm Beach County Community Mental Health Center, Glades branch.

Friday, the center received checks from members of the Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club and Oronimo Leta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Center coordinator Jean Cogar accepted the checks from Mrs. Earl Armstrong of the Juniors and Mrs. Tom Zitter and Mrs. Robert Reessler, representing the sorority.

Miss Cogar said the Junior Woman's check was presented by Mrs. Armstrong, although she is no longer president of the club, since the donation was approved during her term of office.

The check presented by the sorority chapter was gathered by the sorority in the sale of a wide variety of plants during the Art Show held recently at the 'N' That. Mrs. Reessler was the chairman of the committee covering the plant sale, along with co-chairman Mrs. Bill Mills. Mrs. Zitter is president of the chapter.

Insurance Check Awarded

Insurance closed their files Monday in the case of a former Belle Glade resident who was burned to death in an Allentown, Pa. bar when it was fire-bombed Mar. 26.

James T. Sconyers presented several checks for an undischarged amount to Mrs. Mary Lee Robinson of 507 S.W. 9th St. as the benefits for a policy on the life of her daughter, Sylvia Carroll.

Mrs. Carroll, 35, was the only woman killed during the fire which killed eight and injured 12 more victims.

At the Conger Life Office, Mrs. Robinson, who manages the Collins Building, pointed out the picture of her daughter on a stretcher following the fire which was one of several carried in the Mar. 24 edition of the Allentown Call-Chronicle.

That's the only picture I have of her," Mrs. Robinson said. She was also able to pick out her daughter's remains in a large picture of the victims in the street in front of the ruins of the bar.

The Call-Chronicle also had a picture of Ernest Burton Jr., who surrendered himself to Allentown police an hour after the blaze and who was charged with first degree murder.

The suspect, who allegedly was seen to start the fire, was also charged with 10 counts of aggravated assault on a jury, risking a catastrophe, arson, recklessly endangering the lives of others and criminal mischief.

For the above charges, a judge set bail at a total of $75,000 but no bond was set for the eight counts of attempted murder.

The victims in the Caboose Bar found a wall of flames barreling the bar's front door through the windows and the back door was barred.

Witnesses said the victims apparently tried to force the rear entrance but died in the blaze which gutted the entire first floor of the building.

Remember when plastic used to be a bad word? Back in 1947 and 1948 it usually meant a cheap substitute for the real thing. Then last year it meant money—now for 1976 your car's bumpers will probably be plastic. Government regulations call for bumpers that will not dent or scratch. Detroit says no metal will react that way so some type of plastic (plastic material) will be used.

Gas saving tip: Pass other cars smoothly. Don't jam down on the gas pedal and slash around, then let up on the pedal when you're safe in the lane. Watch for a clear stretch of road, accelerate smoothly, pass and get back in lane and keep going.

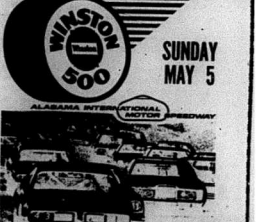

Don't forget about lubricating your car. Just because the lube points have been reduced on most later model cars, it doesn't mean you need it. Be sure to have your car lube each time called for in your owner's manual.

If you get on freeways or the interstate highways, remember that wind can be a real factor even on a car, on a camper or van it can be downright upsetting. Wind stretches his road while it rages force. Listen for gale warnings on your radio while traveling, if you feel high winds slamming your rig around, search for a protecting bank, bridge or tree and ride it out a while.

We're all saving gas, so why shouldn't that extra car of yours be a gas saver? Stop by and look at our medium and compact used cars on our lot. Be surprised just how much fuel they save. See us today at JIM HEERING CHEVROLET-OLDSMOBILE in Pahokee for the best!

Why not start a car pool today? Side stroke if you have to!

GLADES CHURCH NEWS

THE HERALD WELCOMES NEWS ITEMS FROM YOUR CHURCH EACH WEEK.
CALL 596-2056 NOT LATER THAN TUESDAY NOON FOR PUBLICATION THURSDAY.

Study Of Home Begun

Evangelist Frank Ingram, pastor of The Church of Christ Southside in Belle Glade said he is beginning a series of 11 lessons designed to strengthen the home life of participants. Ingram said the public is invited to hear the lessons each Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

"Our homes are the basic units of society and our community," Ingram said. "They have been and are in constant danger of Satanic influences from within and without. It is our hope to enlighten and strengthen our homes in this series of lectures."

He said the first eight lessons will probably appeal to those about 15 years of age and older and the next three should appeal to all ages and the last to older people.

"Most of the material presented will be taken from the sacred Word of God," Ingram said, "and other factual evidences which give support to those principles set out in the Bible."

"This material has been gathered," he said, "over the years in the speaker's work dealing with people and their problems over the past 26 years."

"The material will be informative and is needed by every adult who is interested in their own future happiness and that of their children," he said. "These lessons will be presented and straight from the shoulder. We hope you'll be present."

Beginning Sunday, and continuing each evening service through the next 12 Sundays, the topics will be:

"The Sanctity of Marriage"
"Home and the Family"
"Cosmos and Dangers of the Home"

"Divorce and Remarriage"
"Women's Responsibility in the Home"

"Husbands and Fathers in the Home"
"Mothers in the Home"

"Neglectful Mothers"
"Responsibility of Parents and Children"

"Stepparents of Children"
"Youth and the Home"
"Aged and the Home"

Received into full membership were Mr. & Mrs. Charles Critchfield, South Bay; Mrs. William Rountree, South Bay;

Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Meyers and Mr. & Mrs. Jerry Lohmann of Belle Glade.

Received as Affiliate members were Mr. & Mrs. William Groom of South Bay, and Mr. & Mrs. Leonard Nielsen of Belle Glade.

Received as non-communing members were Jonathan David Meyers, Brian Richard Lohmann, Jacqueline Paige Lohmann, and Lee David Lohmann. The following also received the Sacrament of Baptism: Jonathan David Meyers and Lee David Lohmann.

The 15 new members were received in separate ceremonies spread through the Lenten Season climaxed on Easter Sunday. The baptisms were performed by the Rev. Abe Castor, pastor of the Everglades Presbyterian Church.

The Parson Pontificates

People who complain about the high cost of living these days don't really mean the high cost of living. They mean the high cost of existing. There is a difference, you know. The cost of living has not changed, it has always been high, with no ceiling. The Man from Gullies said, "He that would save his life must lose it, and he that loses his life for my sake shall find it," and "He that does not forsake all that he has cannot be my disciple." That's a high price! But take a look around: those who pay the price willingly find it to be a real bargain. And those who do not? They lose the most valuable possession they could ever have owned. Too many people seek life at a bargain price, that's why there is so much misery in the world.

Insurance Corner

By Milton Carpenter

AVIATION LIABILITY INSURANCE
Aviation liability insurance resembles automobile liability insurance in that it covers a power vehicle that can do a great deal of damage or bodily injury. There is a difference in that usually bodily injury liability to passengers and bodily injury to others are covered separately.
Rates and policy conditions are very different for the individual owner of a private plane, a commercial airline, a crop-dusting service, or a flying school. Also, the maximum amount that can be paid out could be extremely high. The latest jumbo jets can carry hundreds of passengers and liability at $100,000 per passenger can add up to a lot of money. Therefore, much aviation insurance is written by pools.
An interesting variant of aviation liability insurance is admitted liability insurance. Such a policy says, in effect, "If a passenger is killed and his heirs are willing to settle for X amount of dollars, we will pay and will not argue about liability."
Sort of a No-Fault insurance with wings.
